Personal Statement

It is hard to know where to turn when you have money issues. Many professionals are uncomfortable talking about money and so the conversations are often minimal and tense. I believe in the open, honest exploration of money issues and conflicts for individuals, couples, families and business groups. Most clients are relieved to be able to discuss and examine this area without being judged or causing an explosion. Our lives require us to have money and use it daily but the taboo of asking and talking openly in a contained and exploratory manner persists. I am committed to empowering my clients to understand their money decisions and actions and change them if needed. I am committed to open communication and the prevention and resolution of conflicts in a healthy and respectful way.
